

McBRIDE ASKS TO BE TRIED IN PHILA.; MAY PLEAD GUILTY

Court Agrees to Ask Detroit Authorities If They Will Agree to Phila. Hearing

WANTS BAIL LOWERED

Defendant Says Mother and Sister Own Properties and May Aid

By International News Service
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—James Morrison McBride, Bristol man accused of aiding Hermann Goering's former bodyguard to flee a California prisoner-of-war camp, threw himself upon the mercy of the Federal Courts yesterday.

The defendant, being held under $10,000 bail on the request of Detroit authorities, informed U. S. Commissioner Norman J. Griffin, that he would plead guilty if he could be tried here.

Speaking on his own behalf, with out the aid of counsel, McBride asked Griffin whether he could plead nolo contendere.

Griffin pointed out, however, that technically the Federal Courts did not recognize such a plea and it was tantamount to a plea of guilty.

McBride explained that he had admitted the charges in a confession, but that he would like to explain his "predicament" in the plea.

He was informed that by pleading guilty, he would be given the opportunity to testify to all mitigating circumstances that may have involved him in the plot.

Griffin then ordered a court attaché to inform the U. S. District Attorney's office in Detroit of the proceedings, and to make the request that McBride go on trial in the District Court of Philadelphia.

McBride then inquired whether Griffin would reduce his bail, should Detroit authorities permit his being tried in Philadelphia.

"I would like to have the bail lowered within my reach," he pointed out. "My mother and sister have homes which could provide security for reasonable bail," he said.

The Commissioner informed McBride that he would reconsider the bail if Detroit authorities consented to the transfer of jurisdiction.

"The only reason I set that high bail," Griffin said, "is because I was asked to do so by Detroit authorities."

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Approximately 50 members and guests of the Bucks County Natural Science Ass'n joined the field trip which took them to the Hollong and Sellersville sections Saturday.

Traveling in 13 autos, the party made the first stop at "Wheelbarrow Lane Farm," Hollong, the home of the Misses Emma and Edith Fell, where the latter exhibited a herd of 20 Nubian goats. These goats were said to have come originally from the Nubian desert, Africa.

Before leaving the Fell home the party visited the woodland tract in which were found black and white oak, hickory and beech trees. Miss Fell gave the members and guests several quarts of milk which was served later in the day when the members enjoyed box lunch.

The second stop was made at Lenape Park, between Sellersville and Perkasie, where Miss Alma Mae Campbell and Assistant County Superintendent Paul L. Gruber were hosts. Here the latter spoke briefly of the history of the park.

With Mr. Gruber serving as the guide, the party proceeded to the farm of William Hill, about two miles from Sellersville, where 32 palanino horses were seen.

A truck stolen in Sellersville, last week, has been recovered in Phila. The truck, owned by Walter Hedrick, Perkasie, had been in charge of G. T. Tonneta, Sellersville. Tonneta left it outside his home, as

WHO'S BACK OF WALLACE?

A leading Mexican newspaper, viewing the Wallace episode from the sidelines, was quick to make its own analysis of the part played by our Secretary of Commerce.

According to news dispatches to the New York Times, Ultimas Noticias, of Mexico City, had this to say:

Far from being "stupid," Wallace is "a fifth columnist of the greatest magnitude."

It further defined a Fifth columnist as one who is, "like Wallace, a mediocre citizen, sick with complexes, a hypocrite and demagogue, who has no compunctions against being a Trojan horse for dangerous and hidden powers in the hope that—when the 'cause' triumphs—the horse will have a good place in the stables of the great universal Genghis Kahn."

Much has already been said, in the United States, about the infiltration of Communist doctrines and disciples high into various important American institutions, including the most powerful political organizations and the government itself.

But the Mexican theory would put everything else in the shade.

According to this theory, a leading New Dealer—who had his finger on the pulse of the entire American economy, through his position as Secretary of Commerce, and could put a knife there whenever he chose—is working for the interests of Russia rather than those of the United States.

The concept that America's freedom and future may be about to be sold out from the highest echelon of government is an appalling one.

Yet it is not out of step with the history of recent world events. "Quislings" traded one European country after another out to Hitler and to Mussolini—and more recently to Stalin.

We dare not assume that "It Can't Happen Here."

For this reason, and in view of the staggering potentials of the dynamite-laden situation, there ought to be an immediate demand to know by whom, where and under what circumstances Secretary Wallace prepared the audacious letter he submitted in secret to President Truman.

Wallace was not speaking for himself alone in that letter. He was speaking for Russia.

If not officially so, still most conspicuously on the basis of some authority not yet revealed.

TO REVIEW POLICY AND SCHOOL PROGRAM

Nearly All Candidates For Supervising Principals Have Doctor's Degrees

NO MORE APPLICANTS

The successful candidate for the position of supervising principal of the Langhorne-Middletown-Hulmeville and Langhorne Manor area will undoubtedly have attained the highest level of professional training that any school administrator has ever had when initially employed in Bucks County, according to Kenneth Comly and Philip Lewis, chairmen and secretary respectively, of the Joint Teachers Committee.

All candidates unanimously agreed upon by the committee, whose applications will be placed before the Joint Board within the next ten days, will have completed nearly all of the requirements for that degree. No more applicants are being interviewed by the committee, although, daily, more candidates are applying for the position.

"It appears customary and appropriate," Kenneth Comly announced, "when the administrative head of the school changes, to review the school program and board policy. This the teachers' committee has been considering in the past month. Hence, a program of expansion of the administrative and supervisory services is now being determined. In addition a study of rules and

"PENNSYLVANIA WEEK" . . .

PENNSYLVANIA LEADS IN INDUSTRIAL POWER

Prepared for The Courier by the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce.

The latest reports from the Federal Power Commission show a production of electrical energy by industrial establishments in Pennsylvania far exceeding that of any other state. The June production of 416,636,000 kilowatt hours by the State's manufacturers greatly exceeds the combined industrial power output of the eleven westernmost states, including California, Washington and Oregon.

Pennsylvania's industries produced 50 per cent more power than those of Ohio; 56 per cent more than those of Michigan, and 62 per cent more than those of New York, the three other leading states in industrial power production.

Pennsylvania's total output by electrical utilities and industrial establishments in June was more than 1,761,000,000 kilowatt hours, the second largest power output in the United States. Its production of electrical energy from fuel exceeds that of any other state.

Since electrical energy is today the chief source of power for almost every type of manufacture, Pennsylvania's dominant position in the production of industrial electricity and of electrical energy from fuel offers an assurance that its industries are today maintaining a national leadership in the output of civilian goods.

SCOUT MONEY DRIVE MAKING PROGRESS

Plans Are Changed In Some Communities To Aid In Campaign's Progress

WOMEN ARE AIDING

Reports of the Finance Campaign workers of the six Districts of the Bucks County Boy Scout Council which is being conducted for the support of the Council is showing excellent progress. In some communities it has been necessary to change the date because of conflicting activities, however, the plans have been worked out locally with 100% participation now in evidence.

Of special interest in this year's campaign is the large number of women who have volunteered their aid in working with the local campaign committee. The Campaign workers throughout the Council have as their goal solicitation of enough interested people of the county so that a total of 4800 contributors will have a share in supporting the Boy Scout Movement in its work. With a goal of $25,000 set up by the Budget Committee of the Council of which E. H. Lovett, of Yardley, is the Chairman, the Council steps into an accelerated program which aims in a period of five years to have a membership of over 3000 boys enrolled in the ranks of Scouting and Cubbing.

The opening meeting of the Five Year Program of the Council will be held at the Doylestown Inn on October 24th, at which time General Joseph Byron, who was in charge of the P. X. Organization during the recent war, will be the speaker. General Byron became noted by the efficiency of the job which his organization carried out in all theaters of the world conflict.

The Finance Campaign and the Long Term Planning of the Council are tied in closely together. The success of the plan depends on adequate finance for administration, programming, organization, training, and the enlarging of the camp facilities.

Charges Communist Infiltration of Federal Departments

Washington—Rep. Randolph (D) W. Va., charged today that subversive Communist and Fascist groups are carrying on a "well-organized infiltration" of the State, War and Navy Departments for espionage purposes.

Randolph, Chairman of the House Civil Service Committee, said he had asked President Truman to establish an inter-departmental commission to investigate this "very serious problem" and received assurances that it would be given "immediate attention."

The West Virginia Democrat, emphasizing that he was "not interested in anything resembling a witch-hunt," said his charges were based on a survey by a Civil Service subcommittee during the last session of Congress.

Randolph declared—

"The problem is very serious indeed, and has been growing worse in past months. It extends to all executive agencies, but is greater in such Departments as State, War and Navy, where certain types of information can be found."

Auto Hurtled 10 Feet As Train Wrecks Bridge

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 19.—When a tank car on a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train ripped up what is known as the "Stone Bridge" carrying N. Clinton avenue over a P. R. R. spur to Coalport Yard here yesterday at 5:45 p. m., an automobile passing over the bridge at the time was hurtled 10 feet into the air.

Believing that the rear of his car had been struck by a truck, Frank J. Bijaczky, Howell avenue, driver of the machine, was amazed when he alighted from his machine to find that the bridge that he had just passed over had disappeared. Bijaczky was not hurt, neither was anyone on the freight train.

The tank car proved too high for the underpass, and in the crash the bridge was wrecked. The bridge was primarily of stone construction, reinforced with metal girders, with wood planking for the roadway.

The force of the impact also ripped out telephone wires, gas pipes serving the East Trenton area, and affected light and water supplies.

A similar accident occurred at the same spot three years ago, when a train pulling out of the Coalport Yard to the main line of the P. R. R. had a boom strike the bridge, causing considerable damage.

THOUGHTS WHILE SHAVING

Those who are searching diligently for a solution to the difficulties which plague the world may find a clue in a statement made the other day by Justice Frederick R. Colie of the New Jersey Supreme Court. Justice Colie has revealed that he does his most constructive thinking, not on the bench or in his office but while he shaves, dines, plays golf, or drops off to sleep at night.

"Many a judge," he declares, "has gotten the solution to a difficult problem while standing in front of a shaving mirror."

This sort of thing is by no means peculiar to Justice Colie and his fellow judges. Every man knows that some of his best thoughts come while he is doing some routine chore like scraping off his whiskers in the morning or mowing the lawn. Many men would hesitate to pick dinner as a time for deep thinking, but perhaps Justice Colie is a bachelor or has an unusually silent wife. The point is that the best time for solving mental problems is when the hands are occupied and the mind is free to wander where it will.

It is this that turns so many farmers into philosophers. But for other mortals the time left for constructive thinking has shrunk sadly. There are fewer and fewer opportunities to enjoy the pleasures and reap the profits of a freely rambling mind. The radio is always blaring or the telephone is ringing or there is some other interruption to a train of thought. Man has more leisure but makes poorer use of it by exercising all his ingenuity to fill up free time.

NEEDLESS WORRY

Worry over false heart symptoms is driving thousands of persons into nervous troubles and even actual organic ailments, doctors and insurance experts agree. These unfortunate individuals have pains and flutterings which, in two cases out of three, are due to digestive or other conditions not concerned with the heart at all, and which could be corrected easily. They keep their condition a secret from their doctor and, in most cases, even from their own families. They are afraid to go to the doctor; they worry themselves sick for no reason at all.

Any one who suspects the soundness of his heart should seek a thorough medical examination immediately, because his suspicions might be correct and timely diagnosis might prevent the trouble becoming serious. Approximately two-thirds of the persons who go to heart specialists in such fear find that they have been deceived by false symptoms. A change in personal habits, as advised by a physician, may be all that is necessary for relief.

Real heart ailments often are totally unsuspected. The question of symptoms, real or imaginary, aside, the safest course for all individuals, even those who have no reason at all to suspect organic weakness, is regular physical checkups.

WHO'S BACK OF WALLACE?

The nature of the letter, and the categorical manner in which Wallace defines the Russian policy make this perfectly clear.

Over and again, in the letter, Wallace used the phrase "from the Russian point of view."

How can any American, Wallace or anybody else, know what is in Stalin's mind, or what is in the Russian people's mind, with such exactness and such delicate shades of meaning, unless someone sat down with him to explain these matters to him?

The most illuminating side of this critical affair would be to know who were the Russian agents that got their propaganda into Wallace's mouth, and how they got it there.

President Truman himself should demand the answer to that one; and if he is unable to learn, ought to reconvene the Senate for a full-scale investigation.

The "Russian point of view" as thus formally defined by Wallace is at least 90 per cent propaganda to 10 per cent fact.

A single example will show the deft way in which plausible false arguments crowded truth to the wall.

This example deals with the heart of the matter, since it touches on the great and predominant purpose of the letter, which is to try to talk President Truman into giving Russia possession of the secret of the atomic bomb.

Read the following quotation, which is typical of the entire special-pleading letter:

"Would we have been enthusiastic if the Russians had a monopoly of atomic energy, and offered to share the information with us at some indefinite time in the future at their discretion if we agreed now not to try to make a bomb and give them information on our secret resources of uranium and thorium? I think we would react as the Russians appear to have done."

This is a very carefully worded argument attempting to put across the idea that Russia's turbulent aggression is merely a justifiable piece of self-defense because we "held out" on the atomic bomb.

But it is a wholly false and fraudulent argument. Why? For a very simple and well-known reason: Russia's insurgent attitude, her discarding of the principles of the Atlantic Charter, her insistence on taking over all the free nations of Eastern Europe, and her hold-out for the "veto-clause" in the U. N. agreement which is at the seat of the breakdown of justice and world co-operation—all these took place long before the atomic bomb was revealed; at a time when the project was not merely secret, but also an untested experiment.

Wallace knows this perfectly well. He knows that the Russian policy was defined long before the atomic bomb became the issue. He knows his intimation to the contrary is wholly false.

But this is a key-point in his chain of logic. If it falls, so do all the rest of his arguments.

Now, there is a subtle point to be understood here. If the Wallace thesis had represented the logical development of reasonable assumptions, then it might possibly be held that Wallace had worked it all out in his own mind.

But when the logical connections break down in such blatant fashion as in the quoted example, then it becomes conspicuous that he was dealing in propaganda instead of factual argument. And when it is seen that the subject matter is strictly propaganda, issued to fool glibly Americans about the true Russian purpose, then it is seen also that there must have been some prior contact between Wallace and those who, with or without reason, thought they knew what would help Stalin.

The American people are entitled to know what, where, how and why such contact was made.

Wallace talked too much. He knows too much about the "Russian point of view." He reveals what lawyers would call "guilty knowledge"—he is too authoritative about what Russia thinks and what Russia would do under given circumstances.

Of course he ought to be fired from his high post. He ought to be fired for many reasons, one of which is enough—barging out of his own field of world to cripple his conferee Byrnes at the world conferences on peace.

But the matter ought not to drop there.

If, as the Mexican opinion holds, he's working for Russia, let's get to the bottom of it.

Friends may call Thursday evening, 7 to 9, at the Ruel Funeral Parlor, 314 Cedar street.

In Memoriam
BOWERS—In loving memory of our son, Lt. Elmer O. Bowers, U. S. Army, killed in action over Germany, Sept. 19, 1944. Somewhere in Germany, in a soldier's grave, Lies our dear Elmer, among the brave. He never shunned his country's call, But gladly gave his life his all. He died the helpless to defend, A faithful soldier's noble end. Days of sadness melt all over us, Friends may think the wound is healed, But little they know the sorrow That lies within our hearts concealed. Loved and longed for always,
MOTHER AND DAD

In a four-hour session Monday night Doylestown borough council almost outsmoked the smoke ordinance that they passed on final reading in addition to other matters of importance that were brought up for discussion and action.

One of the last matters of business to be transacted was authorization of the sale of $20,000 of U. S. Treasury Bonds for the purpose of placing the money in readiness for certain municipal improvements that will get under way shortly.

Doylestown delegations have been calling on Council for months from the East End, the West End, the South End and the North End, but last night there was a delegation from Doylestown's "Far East."

Accompanying William J. Kane were residents of the East State street and Golf View road sections, who appealed to Council not to forget that section of town when the over-all sewer improvement plans get under way. They were assured that the "Far East" section will be included in the plans.

Council was also informed that they will be asked to consider sewer extension into the "East Hills" residential development (the former Kerns farm), now owned by John H. Elftman, and ready for development in the near future.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Arthur D. Sargis

Pastor

Eddington Presbyterian Church

Dear Father, we thank Thee for the Lord Jesus Christ. "We touch Him in life's throng and press, and we are whole again."

We thank Thee for this holiness which characterized the holiness of the Master. He touches us wherever and whenever we wish to touch Him. It is so wrong for us to say "pass me not O Gentle Saviour" for He never passes us by. Dear Father forgive us for the sin of indifference. Teach us to know that it is the same as the sin of rejection. Teach us, we pray Thee, to "abhor that which is evil and to cleave to that which is good."

We pray in Jesus Name. Amen.

McBride Asks To Be Tried In Phila.; May Plead Guilty

Commissioner Griffin ordered McBride held for further hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 24, but added that the hearing might be moved up if Detroit authorities are heard from sooner.

McBride's 42-year-old Prussian-born wife, Joan, meanwhile was being held in $5000 bail in Detroit, where she had allegedly lived with Goering's ex-bodyguard, Joseph Soelch, 24. Soelch had been allegedly using the name "Mr. McBride."

"This country is headed for Communism," McBride shouted.

"Is that only offense," said McBride, "that I am too much in love with my wife, who deliberately betrayed me?"

McBride was arrested last Saturday at the home of his mother, in Bristol.

FBI agents testified McBride said he first became interested in the camp at Riverside, Calif., through his wife.

The couple used to take sandwiches and beer to the prisoners, he was quoted as saying, but later, he charged, Mrs. McBride suggested they help free Soelch.

Agents said the couple picked Soelch up on a lonely road near the camp, and later took him to Detroit, where McBride charged Soelch paid too much attention to his wife.

An argument resulted, McBride was quoted as saying, and he returned to his mother's home in Bristol.

To Review Policy And School Program

regulations governing school policy are being studied and will undoubtedly be revised.

Philip Lewis, who is also the secretary of the Joint Board and Joint Executive Committee, is satisfied with the program that the committee has developed. He is convinced that the citizens of all the communities in this area will support the school board program when it is announced.

"The coordination and integration of the four school districts into one school system is our immediate goal," Philip Lewis said at a recent special meeting of the Joint Teachers Committee. "We have enlisted the aid of our county staff and state authorities in helping the board set up its program for the future. The teacher committee is unanimously devoted to giving our communities not only a better, but the best program in the county, the children deserve nothing less," he said.

Some of the new school board policies will have a fundamental effect upon the school program for the next two decades. Particularly is this true of the rules and regulations governing board policy, clerical help, teachers, principals, and supervisors.

US LINE TO LINK QUAKERTOWN WITH THE COUNTY SEAT

Allentown & Reading Transit Co. Has Applied for A Certificate

TO 6 DAILY TRIPS

oute Will Be Via Dublin Between Upper and Central Bucks Towns

Within a week or so, Allentown Reading Trailways buses may be using on daily schedule between Quakertown and Doylestown.

The Allentown & Reading Transit company has applied to the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission for a temporary permit to begin immediate operation of a bus route between Quakertown and the county seat, via Dublin.

Upon the granting of the temporary permit the company would start schedule immediately and would petition the PUC for a permanent certificate.

Norman P. Ferman, Jr., president of the Reading Company, said they are at least four trips per day with tentations of increasing it to at least six.

At present there is no public transportation system linking Quakertown and Doylestown directly. Present accommodations are a roundabout route via Lansdale by train or trolley, and from there to county seat via bus or electric car, with connections not too advantageous for a hurried trip.

The A & R Trailways now operate between Applebachsville, Quakertown and Bethlehem, and development of a better schedule between Quakertown and Doylestown is being planned.

Petitions are now in circulation asking that the Quakertown-Doylestown bus line be established and be open for signatures at the free Press Office.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 2 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

To Rohm and Haas Employees

For the 6th time in 3 years, the production and service employees of the Rohm & Haas Company Plant are being asked to exercise their democratic privilege under the National Labor Relations Act in order to determine whether or not they are to be represented by a union for the purpose of collective bargaining.

The Rohm & Haas Company believes that these employees have a right to make their decision in this matter based on sound and proven facts. This election is being held to determine whether or not the employees feel they desire outside representation in determining their wages, hours and working conditions, or whether they believe that the Company's record in past years is enough of a guarantee for their future security.

The employees have been given all the facts on which to make their decision and it is the sincere hope of the Company that each and every employee eligible to vote will assume the responsibility of casting his ballot on September 20, 1946, even though the casting of this ballot may mean an extra trip to the plant for those who may not be scheduled to work on this day.

Danish Dishes to Mark United Nations Week

Long Names But Easily Prepared of Plentiful Onions, Cabbage,
Potatoes

In case you would like to go Danish for an evening in honor of this member of the United Nations week, September 22-28, you will find a choice of ways of doing it tastefully and yet use up the cheaper plentiful now reported by Production and Marketing Administration, USDA, to be abundant in Northeast markets. Something you can dish up any rainy night if you have a little pickled herring in the house is Spegesild or Logsovs. Herring is served with white sauce filled with sliced onions and boiled potatoes.

Kaaldolmer is like stuffed cabbage but less trouble to fix. Some of the large cabbage leaves are taken off the head, filled with sausage meat, tied up and boiled. The remainder of the cabbage is boiled, baked in melted butter or fortified oleomargarine and sugar, and served with the stuffed leaves.

The Danes have a New Year's Eve special which you might copy almost any day. It is Gronlangkall med brunede Kartoffler og skinke. Kale is boiled, chopped and mixed with white sauce. Small potatoes are boiled, peeled, and baked brown in melted butter or fortified margarine and sugar. This is served with ham.

PENNA. WILL NEED 200 AIRPORTS BY YEAR '55

Estimate 17,000 Private Planes Will Be In State By That Time

STUDY MADE OF NEED

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Sept. 19.—Pennsylvania will have an estimated 17,000 private planes by 1955 and will need more than 200 airports.

So says Dr. R. Hadley Waters, associate professor of economics at the Pennsylvania State College, who has just concluded a study of airport needs and published it under the title of "Pennsylvania's Airport Needs: Statistical Analysis by Counties and Cities."

In his study, Dr. Waters compared the rate of growth of the air industry in the State to that of the auto industry and concluded that the increase of aircraft from 1925 to 1941, the last pre-war year, was 785 per cent—which corresponds rather closely to the 755 per cent increase in automobiles reported for the period from 1909 to 1915.

Dr. Waters further estimates that Pennsylvania's share of all U. S. planes will be about 7 per cent, indicating a national total of 240,000 private planes in 1955. The Pennsylvania figure is based on this State's share of national totals of payrolls, wage-earners in manufacturing, value of manufactured products, population, passenger automobile registrations, licensed aircraft, airports in use, and land areas.

The State total is broken down by counties and the number of potential users and/or owners of aircraft in each county is one of the main figures used to estimate airport requirements for that county.

Coach Miller Prepared For Opening Tilt Under The Lights

OTH ARE CONFIDENT

eam Changes Made After Number of Scrimmages Are Held

FALLSINGTON, Sept. 19—Coach Miller, of the Fallsington Falcons, is prepared for his opening game, tomorrow night, with the Langhorne Redskins, on the latter's field.

Coach Miller is predicting a successful season for his Fallsington team and furthermore: "We intend to beat DeRisi's team under the lights." Miller is satisfied with the showing his proteges have been making during the practice session. "Almost my entire first string are first-overs from last season and with experienced players, I feel certain that we will have a fine season."

Miller has had several scrimmages in the past week which may result in several changes in the line-up. He likes the work of George Turner, a newcomer in the lineup.

It was Turner, a sophomore, who scored the second-stringers to a 19-7 win over the regulars in a real scrimmage game on Tuesday. Turner was the whole show in the second-string practice and now Miller feels that this work will entitle him to the regular backfield.

This is Miller's first year as a coach, he being a graduate of McKean State Teachers College, before entering military service. At McKean, he was familiar with "Sagolla," present coach of Newtown and Fallsington will lock horns on November 10th.

Coach Miller has a nine-game schedule and meets Claude Lodge's Southampton team twice. In addition to Langhorne, Fallsington will meet Morrisville and Bensalem. Lower Bucks opponents.

Of the lettermen back from last season, Coach Miller has: Ray Arthur, Joe Bellardo, Sherwood Taylor, Jim Peterson, E. Lynch, "Bill" cSherry, W. Henry, Earl Johnson, Watson, Fred Hibbs, George Taylor, George Hartley, Bob Jones and on Johnson. In addition to these, has Calvin Brown who was a regular lineman with Morrisville last season and switched to fallsington this season.

Fallsington's backfield will consist of Freddie Hibbs calling the signals; Hartley, at fullback; with a half-backs being Jones and Turner with Taylor ready to go in Turner falls.

Turner is a good punter while Hartley is a passer and punter, and can pass well and also lug the ball.

Miller's other candidates are: L. Brown, Termyna, LaBour, ckie, Williams, D. Johnson, Jiggs, Calvin; guards, Clay, Curran; centers, Watson and E. Johnson; backs, L. Lynch, Doheny, Lucio, Stone, Camp, Wolf, G. Bellardo.

The schedule:

- Sept. 26—Langhorne, away
- Oct. 1—Lower Moreland, away
- Oct. 4—Bardonia H. S., home
- Oct. 11—Southampton, home
- Oct. 18—Florence, home
- Oct. 26—Morrisville, away
- Nov. 1—Bensalem, away
- Nov. 8—Southampton, away
- Nov. 15—Newtown, away
